 - CNS 748: Life-span Development: Implications for Counseling
 - CNS 749: School Guidance and Counseling
 - CNS 763a: Specialized Study in Counseling: School Counseling
 - CNS 780: Professional, Legal & Ethical Issues in Counseling
 - CNS 786: Consultation and Program Planning

Assistant Professor, Counseling Program, College of Education, East Tennessee State University, August 1992 – July 1996

As a faculty member of the counseling program, my duties included instruction, supervision, research, and service. I have developed courses for undergraduate retention, student athletes, and cross-cultural issues. I have supervised practicum and internship students as well as graduate teaching assistants. I have served on university wide committees of curriculum and retention and several college committees. I was the chair of a program committee that worked on CACREP accreditation. I served as counseling program coordinator for a year. My research is in the areas of counseling effectiveness, counselor training and supervision, and program development. The following are courses I taught at East Tennessee State:

- HDAL 5010: Principles and Administration of Counseling Services
- HDAL 5110: Cross Cultural Issues and Perspectives
- HDAL 5150: Career Development: Theory, Research and Practice
- HDAL 5400: Consultation Theories and Techniques
- HDAL 5550: Counseling Theories
- HDAL 5561: Counseling Techniques for Children
- HDAL 5570: Counseling Practicum
- HDAL 5580: Counseling Internship
- HDAL 5957-004 Coping with Crisis in the School
- HDAL 5957-204: Counselors as Drug Abuse Prevention Specialists
- HDAL 2310: Developmental Life Span Psychology

Faculty, Tennessee Collaborative Academy, July 1994, July 1995, July 1996

I was an invited faculty member to this summer institute. My duties included leading the group of school counselors and for two years leading interdisciplinary groups also. The themes for the academy were as follows:

- Assessment
- Empowerment
- Interdisciplinary Teaching

Graduate Teaching Assistant, Department of Educational and Counseling Psychology
University of Tennessee, September 1988 – May 1989

- ECP 315: Classroom Management and Discipline
- ECP 210: Human Development
- ECP 325: Tests and Measurement

Graduate Research Assistant - Bureau of Educational Research and Service, University of Tennessee,
June 1989 – July 1991

Duties included monitoring budget accounts, writing research funding proposals, reviewing grant applications, researching various topics, planning and implementing evaluation procedures, and others.

Consultant – Contract with TRW/Koyo, December 1988 – July 1991

Conducted employee assessment

Duties included facilitating local industry in the evaluation of potential employees

Instructor -Knoxville Business College, January 1989 – September 1989

Taught English usage and speech courses

Teacher - Carteret County Board of Education, January 1981 – June 1986

Duties were those necessary to the instruction of seventh and eighth grade language arts classes. For two-thirds of the school day I worked with students who were in at-risk academically. As a co-director for this project, I helped design and implement a curriculum for the needs of these students. This was a holistic approach that included many lessons in guidance activities designed to improve self-esteem, to develop study and life skills, and to increase communication abilities. These were designed as developmental guidance lessons and delivered by me in the role of counselor.

Instructor - Carteret Community College, 1981 - 1983

Courses taught include business letter writing, freshman composition, and others.

Teacher & Counselor - Page County Public Schools, October 1973 – June 1979

My teaching assignments were ninth, tenth, and twelfth grade English classes. I worked half time in the guidance office and taught half time. Also I was faculty advisor for the yearbook and the newspaper and worked on a curriculum development committee. I also worked closely with the career development specialist during the school year and worked as a counselor in a summer program for disadvantaged youth.

EMPLOYMENT - In other areas

Owner and Manager - Donna's Hallmark Shop, February 1986 – July 1989

Duties include all involved in owning and operating a small business, such as bookkeeping, planning, purchasing, marketing, and staffing.

CNSCATION

Doctor of Philosophy, University of Tennessee at Knoxville, December 1992

Specialty: counselor education. Practicum and internship experiences include work at a community agency for convicted felons, an elementary school, and a college-counseling center. Also I have led structured and unstructured small groups, worked with practicum classes, and have been involved in several research projects. I was directly involved in the writing and reply to the CACREP accreditation process which was successfully completed while I was at UTK. The faculty and College of Education honored me by naming me Outstanding Graduate Student in Counselor Education.

Masters of Arts in Teaching, James Madison University, June 1978

Concentration: 21 hours in English and 12 hours in Education.

I also began the certification process to become a school counselor.

Bachelor of Arts, Meredith College, June 1970

English major and business minor. Editor of the campus literary magazine

Associate of Arts, Peace College, June 1968

Concentration: English and business. The faculty recognized me with an award of Outstanding English Student.
