

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY FACTS

Serving humanity through the pursuit of knowledge.

Founded in 1834, Wake Forest University is a private, collegiate university dedicated to serving humanity through the pursuit of knowledge. Consistently ranked among the nation's top universities, Wake Forest offers students the personalized attention of a small liberal arts college with the resources, technology and co-curricular opportunities of a large university. With strong undergraduate and graduate programs and leading professional schools, Wake Forest maintains the highest academic and scholarly standards and strives to instill in all its students a desire to lead examined and purposeful lives.

Location: Winston-Salem, NC

Founded: 1834, Wake Forest, NC

Status: Private, collegiate university

President: Nathan O. Hatch, AB, AM, PHD

Motto: "Pro Humanitate" (for humanity)

Undergraduate tuition and fees (2009-10): $38,622

Enrollment (2008-09)

Undergraduate: 4,476

Graduate and professional schools: 2,386

Total: 6,862

Student/faculty ratio: 10:1

Academic majors: 37

The Schools:

Undergraduate: Wake Forest College, the Wayne Calloway School of Business and Accountancy

Graduate & Professional: Wake Forest School of Law, Wake Forest School of Medicine, Babcock Graduate School of Management, Wake Forest Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Wake Forest School of Divinity

Rankings

- 28th among 262 national universities in the 2009 edition of U.S. News & World Report's guide, "America's Best Colleges."
- Calloway School of Business and Accountancy ranks 30th in U.S. News & World Report undergraduate business programs.
- BusinessWeek magazine ranks the Calloway School of Business and Accountancy 14th on its 2009 list of the top 50 undergraduate business schools in the United States.
- WFU third among doctoral universities with the highest percentage of undergraduates studying abroad, according to the Open Doors 2008 report published by the Institute of International Education (IIE)

The Babcock Graduate School of Management has been named as one of the world's top 100 business schools globally and among the top 50 in the U.S., according to the Financial Times of London.

Pro Humanitate: Serving humanity through the pursuit of knowledge

City of Joy- Calcutta, India

<http://vsc.groups.wfu.edu/servicetrips.php>

Founded by a WFU student in 1995, the City of Joy program creates opportunities for students to witness, know, love, experience, and serve the poorest of the poor by volunteering for two weeks with the late Mother Teresa's Missionaries of Charity.

Nicaragua Project

In December 2008, nineteen students and two faculty members from the Babcock Graduate School of Management completed a fifth trip to Nicaragua. The returning group implemented a new consulting and lending program in Managua; and conducted a two-day seminar in El Castillo for aspiring entrepreneurs and business owners in the tourism industry.

Project Pumpkin

<http://vsc.groups.wfu.edu/ProjectPumpkin/>

Project Pumpkin, an event sponsored by the Volunteer Service Corps, is an annual service event started in 1988 to bring together the campus and Winston-Salem communities. Each year more than 1,000 children from local agencies are escorted to the Reynolda Campus where students and faculty provide a safe environment for trick-or-treating, carnival games, and entertainment.

Wake Alternative Break (WAB)

WAB organizes annual service-related spring break trips for students. Past service projects include tutoring with HeadStart, participating in an environmental clean-up, working with City Year, serving in homeless shelters, and helping with hurricane relief efforts.

Helping Hands- Moscow, Russia

The Helping Hands program provides an opportunity for students to live and work in a Moscow orphanage for a two-week period. Students work primarily on minor construction projects and spend time with the children playing games and doing crafts.

The Campus Kitchen

<http://vsc.groups.wfu.edu/ckwfu/about.php>

The Campus Kitchen is a Food Recycling program that uses cooked but never served food from the campus dining hall to make healthy and nutritious meals for the needy of our community. It grew out of a student-run program called Homerun started by two juniors in 1999. Karen Borchert and Jessica Jackson went on to start the national program called "The Campus Kitchens Project."